

Editorial Note:

This second issue of the second volume took little longer to be published in 2023. It was based on theme: People and culture. This issue is the most varied edition so far as far as the themes of the articles selected for this volume. It contains areas like literature, Philosophy, Folklore, Sociology, Ethnomusicology, Gender Study, Myth, and Popular Culture. Many of the contributors are well-established authors, teachers, research-scholars, and independent researchers. It took a long time to review these articles to go through Blind Peer Review. Articles in English language have been checked with Ithenticate software. I hope the fresh topics and original findings in these articles will enrich the research community globally.
