

Editorial Statement ( JCRS November 2024)

We are pleased to inform our esteemed readers that Journal of Cultural Research Studies, Vol-III Issue-2(2024) is published after the hectic process of blind peer-review and plagiarism checking by iThenticate.

Dr. Ara Sathi's article stressed on the struggles made by female poets of Bangladesh from literary-historical perspectives which could be significant due to the recent radicalisation movement in Bangladesh. Hansda stressed on the contributions by Birsa and Munda tribes of Eastern India in protecting forest and wild lives from historical perspectives. Bhupesh Ray's article surveys the cultural threat to Rajbanshi community of North Bengal from cultural and political perspectives.

The title "Reevaluating Feminism in addition to Gender Delegation in the Context of Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's Essay 'We Should All Be Feminist'" itself indicates the subjects explored here. Sudipta Banerjee's article explores the phenomenon called Kirtan which popularized by Sri Chaitanya Dev in mideaval Bengal as a social , cultural , and religious tools. This Kirtan still exists in Bengal as part of popular culture in rural Bengal.
